

We Don't Just Sell Technology.

We Stand Behind Every Solution We Deliver.

Reliable IT hardware, surveillance systems, computing solutions and technology infrastructure across South India — backed by the kind of support customers wish they received more often.

RESELLERS

Building trust in an industry that often forgets it.

Every company has a founding story. Ours starts with the phone calls that never got answered — by other suppliers.

A student's first laptop. A business investing in its future. A school creating better opportunities for its students. A reseller earning the trust of every customer they serve.

Behind every purchase is someone placing their confidence in a decision — and in the people behind it. That trust carries a responsibility.

A responsibility to recommend honestly. To deliver reliably. And to remain available long after the transaction is complete.

That's why Aarna exists — not simply to supply technology, but to build relationships that customers can depend on for years to come.

Too often, technology purchases came with confusion, inconsistent support and suppliers who disappeared the moment the invoice was paid. We built Aarna to be the opposite: accountable, available and honest about what customers actually need.

Genuine products

Every product we supply is sourced through trusted channels and backed by transparent specifications.

GST-compliant billing

Clear documentation, professional invoicing and complete business transparency.

Reliable warranty assistance

We're here to help long after the purchase, making warranty support simpler and more accessible.

Dedicated after-sales support

Because our relationship with customers begins — not ends — after the sale.

BEFORE AARNA

The problem customers kept facing

Poor support. Warranty headaches. Suppliers who disappeared after the sale.

2023 · THE BEGINNING

A simple belief

Technology should come with accountability, not uncertainty.

2024-2025 · EARNING TRUST

Relationships, not transactions

One recommendation, one customer and one relationship at a time.

2026 · VOLTRA

Introducing Voltra

Products shaped by everything our customers taught us.

Every customer has different goals.

Technology should support them — not the other way around.

FOR BUSINESSES

Helping businesses stay productive and connected.

From workstations and networking to surveillance and power backup, we help businesses build technology environments that support growth.

FOR SCHOOLS & COLLEGES

Technology that supports better learning.

Computer labs, campus surveillance, networking and digital infrastructure designed to create reliable learning environments.

FOR RESELLERS & DEALERS

More than a supplier. A partner in growth.

Reliable product availability, competitive pricing, dedicated support and opportunities to grow alongside Aarna and Voltra.

FOR CONSUMERS

Technology that fits everyday life.

Whether it's a gaming setup, a refurbished laptop or a custom-built system, we help customers find solutions that match their needs and budget.

One company. Many solutions.

Whether you're setting up a business, building a computer lab, growing a reseller network or upgrading your personal technology, Aarna provides the products, support and guidance to help you move forward with confidence.

Solutions designed around real needs.

Tell us what you're building and we'll show you exactly what goes into it — supplied, set up and supported through a single point of accountability.

VOLTRA

Built from experience. Backed by responsibility.

Voltra was created from the lessons we've learned serving customers every day. Too often, people are asked to choose between affordability, reliability and support — we believe they deserve all three.

Beginning with computer cabinets and expanding into new categories over time — every product launches only when it meets the standards we expect from the Voltra name.
